Best Resources for Appliance Reviews

Reading through appliance reviews can feel like information overload. There are so many sources of information to sift through and it's often difficult to know whether you can trust reviews.

Thankfully, there are a number of websites that have comprehensive reviews on different appliances. For trustworthy reviews about an appliance's features and durability, head straight to these resources.

Consumer Reports

Sometimes there's no need to reinvent the wheel. There's a reason Consumer Reports (CR) has been around for so long and is so well known – the reviews and ratings they provide are incredibly useful. CR offers a variety of buying guides for appliances. If there's an appliance you've been eyeing, head over to their website to see how the item rates

Google

You'll have to do some additional legwork if you're using Google as a way to find appliance reviews, but it's an undeniably helpful resource. You'll find a variety of information, from bigger reviews on durability to product reviews on independent websites like Home Depot and Amazon.

Reviewed.com

Reviewed.com is a division of USA Today, and the website is packed with information about appliances. They also have a variety of articles with useful information about choosing different appliances, plus pieces with more in-depth reviews from their testers.

Protecting the Appliances in Your Home

Once you've purchased new (or new to you) appliances for your home you'll want to protect yourself from the repairs and replacements that are bound to occur eventually.

A Home Warranty Service Agreement, sometimes called a Systems and Appliances Service Agreement, is a service contract that allows for repair or replacement of the major systems and appliances in a home as they're used over time.

2-10 HBW offers the most comprehensive coverage for homeowners. Let us help you get started with a Home Warranty Service Agreement today!

Lemon Salmon Burgers

- 1 (16 ounce) can salmon, drained/flaked
- 2 eggs
- ¼ cup chopped fresh parsley
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup Italian seasoned dry bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon dried basil
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 2 tablespoons light mayonnaise
- 1 pinch dried basil garnish

Instructions

- 1) In a medium bowl, mix together the salmon, eggs, parsley, onion, breadcrumbs, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and basil. Form into 6 firmly packed patties, about ½ inch thick.
- 2) Heat the oil in a large skillet over medium heat. When the oil is hot, add the patties and cook for 4 minutes per side, or until nicely browned
- 3) In a small bowl, mix together the mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice and a pinch of basil. Use as a sauce for your patties.
